

So Ya Want Your Own TV Show

Created by Kimberley Beaudoin

Format: A limited documentary series

Genre: Variety programming, one hour each.

Concept: Follow along as two dynamic women find their way to the culmination of a four year journey. These two movers and shakers have been on the toughest road of their lives, getting their own individual network television network deals.

Kimberley Beaudoin and Rhonda Dutton, each an independent producer, have fashioned friendships, knowledge, passion, and alliances in their individual progression in obtaining their own TV Shows. From the incredible weight loss of your one Host and Producer and single Mom, 120 pounds to be exact, to the live shows these two performers already do.

Kimberley and Rhonda, best friends in real life, are industry entrepreneurs that think you should follow the rat race and wild turn of events as they unfold. The hardships, hurricanes, hassles and red tape involved in getting your own network deal. From the sales classes to the schmoozing and industry parties, these two women take you on an amazingly wild and true life journey of what it really takes to have your own show.

Both Kimberley and Rhonda have produced independently and have been in the entertainment industry for nearly a decade. Tapping your way into and evolving and cut throat industry can be challenging. These two ladies each have their own television shows 13 episode series ready for broadcast licensing. Kimberley, a stand up comedian and Rhonda a Hollywood impersonator have spent years learning what it really takes, and if you think its easy then your wrong.

Here are some of the things these two girls will be sharing

Weight loss struggles, Juggling work and more,
Functions and Parties and Galas galore.
Hair and Make up and Wardrobe hell,
Climbing right back out of the rejection well.

Working on shows, while maintaining our careers.
Editing and Rendering - it can take years.
Woman in Film Functions, and all that jazz,
Telefilm forums and paparazzi pizzazz.

CTF information and other resources,
Sessions and Business Centre corporate sales courses.
Thank you cards, letters don't forget faxing,
Divas with stickers on all our packaging.

Meetings, rejections, connections and fiends
False alarms and false hope, all behind the scenes.
Press junkets, applications (it really never ends)
We interview stars, we're amazed were still friends!!

Live performance, photo shoots, writing sponsors and more,
Guess what? More meetings and applications in store.
Processing data and the barrage of hoops
These two Vancouver chicks are really in the loop.

Industry speak, it can be so confusing,
Juxta positioning is what we'll be using

Banff TV Festival, getting there is half the fun,
Were already paid delegates...Pitchings going to be fun.
International Pitch forums, scrums and trips,
Traveling and scraping by and still looking hip.

This limited series is crazy and true
And if you don't believe us, well just stay tuned.
